

This pdf is generated on May 9, 2021. Go to the documentation page for the most up-to-date version.

Simple Analytics APIs

Simple Analytics does not own your data. That's why we care a lot about the interoperability of your data. Our APIs are a good example of that. Most analytics companies do not give you access to your raw data. We believe it should be easy for our customers to get their raw data out of our database. You should decide what you want to do with your data.

There are a few ways to interact with our API. We have the Stats API for aggregated data, Export API for raw level data, and the Business API for changing users, websites and other settings.

Stats API

Aggregated data

View docs

Export API

Raw page view data

View docs

Admin API

Change settings

View docs

Depending on the public settings of a website you'll need to authenticate. Learn how to authenticate with Simple Analytics APIs.

This pdf is generated on May 9, 2021. Go to the documentation page for the most up-to-date version.